

Synopsis of "The Three Powers, Magic to Love Yourself!"

IKEN is feeling alone, worthless and sad because kids at school are bullying him. His parents are too busy to be more involved with his life. They think everything is O.K. with their son because Iken is not telling them about the bullying, or how unhappy he is. One day, Iken stumbles upon a magical book, and meets Sir Wisely, a wise man who teaches the inquisitive boy The Three Powers: The Power of Love, The Power of Faith and The Power of Words. After his discovery, nothing is the same for Iken; he transforms into a self-confident and happy kid who enjoys his life – who also helps other kids discover The Three Powers, too. As Iken and his newfound friends use The Three Powers, they find the strength inside to dispel the effects of bullying, to be happy, to make good friends and to improve their relationships with their parents. The first of a book series, The Three Powers is headed for school distribution.
